"President McKinley's course in this Cubat matter reminds me very much of the attitude of President Lincoln in regard to emancipation,' said a student of national affairs and nation history, talking to your correspondent on this matter a day or either from personal recollection or reading, how President Lincoln delay ed action in regard to the emancipation proclamation until public sentiment was thoroughly ripe in its support. For months before the issuance of his proclamation there were murmurs of criticism of his delay, and these murmurs increased until they became open and vigorous assertions. Still Mr. Lincoln delayed, and it was not until he saw that public sentiment was thoroughly ripe and practically unanimous support of such a course that he acted. While there was at that time criticism of his delay, the calmer judgment of subsequent observation fully justifies his course on that occasion. The course of Presi-

SEWER DITCH

Distressing Misfortune That Befel the Sewerage Contractors Nearly a Block Will Have to Be Dug Over,

The Accident Will Cost the Cou tractors About Two Hundred Dollars and Three Days More Work.

The sewerage contractors have met very much distressal over the collarge ditch for the main sewer on North Third street, between Jefferson and Monroe.

Part of the ditch was excavated unde: Contractor White. When Supt. Earler and his men began work, they braced the ditch, but this seemingly did no good.

The recent rains softened it, and n one place, which was a fill, it caved in from the bottom, and gradually the entire ditch collapsed, until a whole block of it will practically have to be dug over again. Yesterday's weather necessitated a suspension of work, and today workmen have been engaged in straightening things out.

The accident will cost the contractors, according to Mr. Pat Halloran, about $200 and three days' work.

Something For Nothing.

Agriculture Requires a High Order Intellect and Training.

Farming in its true sense implies great deal more than we ordinarily attach to the word. Good farming consists in growing the maximum amount of whatever crop we grow at the minimum cost, and leaving the soil in the best possible condition for succeeding crops. It implies even far more than that. The quality or market value of the crop must be considered and the fertility of the soil be maintained and increased.

In this sense cropping is not farming. The great bulk of "farmers' emphatically true of most "tenant farmers." Farming also implies it a most practical sense the curing The talef unlocked the front door, kinds of farm produce. A successful handling, storing and marketing of al ransacked the drawers and tore up farmer is not one who succeeds in accumulating some money by impoverishing his farm. This system might work well for a time on our newer soils, but on some, which have been farmed for centuries, we must practice true farming. The fertility of he soil must be maintained; econom ically if possible, but expensively if need be. Some of the old Lancaster county farms which have been cultivated for more than 200 years are tolay yielding crops unsurpassed by our newer rich western lands. This is also true of many other of the farm lands of our state. Lancaster county still holds the credit of being the banner agricultural county in this union. Its annual crops are said to be of greater money value than any other county.

The cultivating of these farms and maintaining, if not increasing their fertility, and diversifying the crops as a close study of the markets will suggest, is in the line of true farming, and no doubt prompted the assertion made at the alumni dinner.

In this connection we most positively assert the farmer requires as style.
